Academic News

Learning Is Fun

During this semester, our Montessori guides have been working with their EdTech teacher in joint projects useful both for their coding learning and their real life daily work in the classroom. They practiced sequencing, learning processes, number recognition and association...and wait time. Following the recipe for small cakes, they applied number recognition, basic addition and subtraction...and listening skills. Developed as a PBL (project based learning) process, each child was able to collaborate. Internalizing their environment is a readiness skill that leads to good performance in following school levels.

Parents

Parent Tips for PowerSchool

4th grade and up

PowerSchool is our online student information system and enables parents to see their child's average for each subject. There is also more information available. Once logged in to the Parent Portal, click on the current subject average and it will open a new page that provides individual assignment grades and, at times, teacher comments. This is a great tool to use when discussing your child's progress.

Fourth B2 Field Trip

Class mothers Melissa Arias and Cynthia Barzuna along with Cristina Acebal organized a spectacular tour where students could compare the preponderance that the tertiary sector of the economy is taking in our country, with the essential support to primary and secondary sectors. Their companions, Nora Vaquerano, Amy Hoepker and Edgar Heise, collaborated so that everything went perfect... even the weather contributed! Thanks from all three teachers to all the parents!

Secure Your Child's Space for 2019

Tuition Advance $150,000

We kindly remind you that a tuition advance is charged for the January payment in October and November for your first and second child, respectively. The advance is not required for the third child and on. Please make your payment through our BAC or BNCR account.

A2 Academics & Activities

BVS Math Tournament

Last Thursday's math tournament was a success! Mathletes competed in both individual and team events. Participants discussed various problem solving strategies after each challenge and socialized while refueling during snack and lunch. Winners for the individual category include: Carlos Shum from the British School (1st place), Joaquín Rodríguez from Saint Paul School (2nd place) and Ian Naranjo from the Anglo American School (3rd place). For team events, the British School won gold and Saint Paul School, silver. Congratulations!
